Kurt Rahn awarded Physical Management distinction for excellence in waste reduction

LAKE FOREST, Calif., (August 06, 2009)— Kurt Rahn, executive staff member for Professional Community Management, Inc. (PCM), was recognized with a Vision Award for Physical Management from the California Association of Community Managers (CACM) on July 31. Rahn was acknowledged for his waste reduction programs at Laguna Woods Village, a community in south Orange County, managed by Professional Community Management, Inc.

Kurt Rahn is the Landscape and Recreation Director for Professional Community Management, Inc. and oversees landscape maintenance for the 2,100 acre community, which caters to approximately 18,000 active adults. He received a Vision Award for his leadership in developing and implementing an innovative compost system that significantly contributes to the diversion of roughly 70 percent of the community's solid waste from the landfill and saves Laguna Woods Village an estimated $250,000 a year in offset costs and revenue.

"Kurt's passion for leading his landscape management team to build and sustain a green community is an excellent example of PCM's innovative processes and customer service," said Donny Disbro, chief executive officer. "We are honored to see him accept a CACM Vision Award as it proves our unique ability to provide customized community solutions in the management industry."

The Vision Awards is an annual state-wide event held by CACM to acknowledge leading community managers and affiliates in the industry for their outstanding achievements. The award illustrates the highest standards in community association management. This year, the Vision Awards celebrate 18 years.
