Professional Community Management of California, Inc. appoints new Chief Information Officer

Chuck Holland to oversee information technology systems

LAKE FOREST, Calif., (August 25, 2009)—Professional Community Management of California, Inc. (PCM), one of the nation’s largest property management firms, announced today the promotion of Chuck Holland to Chief Information Officer. As a 12 year veteran of the PCM’s information technology team, Holland has played an integral role in the development of innovative information systems that support client services.

In his new position, Holland will be responsible for directing the information and data integrity of PCM’s technological infrastructure. This includes overseeing all data centers, technical service centers, scheduled accounting functions, communications networks, the help desk, software development, budgeting and long term planning.

“Chuck’s ability to smoothly incorporate the latest advances into our system empowers PCM to consistently provide excellent service to our communities,” stated Donny Disbro, chief executive officer. “We are very pleased to see Chuck taking a greater role of leadership in the development and future of our firm.”

Holland holds a Bachelor of Science with an emphasis in software engineering from National University-San Diego. He has also completed technical and certification programs from leading industry organizations such as IBM, Microsoft, Cisco Systems, Inc. and Citrix Systems, Inc.
