Debbie Alvarez of Professional Community Management of California, Inc. honored by Community Associations Institute

Alvarez receives Professional Community Association Manager distinction.

LAKE FOREST, Calif., (September 30, 2009)— Debbie Alvarez, assistant general manager for Lake Forest Community Association, a community managed by Professional Community Management, Inc. (PCM), was recognized with a Professional Community Association Manager (PCAM) designation by California Associations Institute.

In her position as Assistant General Manager for the Lake Forest Community Association, Alvarez is responsible for assisting with the annual budget preparation, board meeting and association newsletter preparation, and website maintenance; obtaining bid proposals for various projects; and working with the community's homeowners and vendors. She received a PCAM designation after completing 100 hours of coursework and an in depth case study as well. She has also completed two prerequisite designations prior to receiving her PCAM.

"We are extremely proud of Debbie's accomplishments and are pleased to see her honored for her dedication to ongoing education," said Donny Disbro, chief executive officer. "She is passionate about growing as a leader and is an outstanding example of PCM's commitment to provide the most knowledgeable management for our communities."

The PCAM is awarded to Alvarez through the Community Associations Institute. California Associations Institute is comprised of more than 16,000 members, of whom 1,700 have earned the PCAM designation. It is a national organization with one international chapter in Dubai.
