Professional Community Management of California, Inc.
announces new Director of Property Management

Patty LaBar to oversee PCM's portfolio of commercial and residential community associations

LAKE FOREST, Calif., (June 17, 2010)—Professional Community Management of California, Inc. (PCM), one of the nation's largest property management firms, announced today that Patty LaBar has been promoted to the position of Director of Property Management. With more than 15 years of experience on PCM's management team, LaBar brings extensive leadership and organizational expertise to her new position.

As Director of Property Management, LaBar will be responsible for the growth of PCM's commercial association portfolio as well as supervision of residential community associations. Before her promotion to Director of Property Management, LaBar worked most recently as a senior manager for PCM.

"Patty has the experience and understanding to uphold and build the PCM standard of excellence in customer care and customized management solutions," stated Donny Disbro, chief executive officer. "She has been a strong contributor to our team and we are pleased to extend her a greater role of leadership within our company."

LaBar holds Bachelor of Arts in Communications from the University of San Diego. In addition, she has received the designation of CCAM from California Association of Community Manager and is pursuing Certified Property Management designation from the Institute of Real Estate Management. She has also been honored with the Spirit Award by the California Association of Community Managers.
