Professional Community Management of California, Inc. (PCM) announces new general manager of Laguna Woods Village
Jerry Storage brings 32 years of experience to community

LAKE FOREST, Calif. (Feb. 24, 2010)—Professional Community Management of California, Inc., one of the nation’s largest managers of homeowner associations, announced today that Jerry Storage has been named as the new General Manager of Laguna Woods Village, one of the nation’s largest and most established active adult communities. With 32 years of experience in management, maintenance, security, construction and financial analysis, Storage will utilize his expertise to provide excellent customer care to the residents of Laguna Woods Village.

In his role as GM, Storage will oversee the 2,100 acre community which is comprised of 18,000 residents and more than 12,736 dwelling units. The operation includes the oversight of more than 900 equivalent full-time employees, as well as all services associated with management of the community including transportation, communication, technology, broadband services, security, human resources, financial services, landscaping and maintenance.

“We are extremely pleased to announce Jerry as the new general manager for Laguna Woods Village,” stated Donny Disbro, CEO. “He is noted as one of the industry’s most respected experts and is fully equipped to uphold the PCM standard of excellence. In addition, Jerry’s diplomacy will assist our boards of directors to achieve the goals set out for their community.”

Storage has served for almost 12 years on the management team for Laguna Woods Village, beginning his career in the maintenance division as the Planning and Engineering Manager and moving up to the Director of Maintenance and Security, a title he has held for the last ten years. Prior to joining PCM, Inc., Storage worked with Black & Veatch for 20 years, as a project engineer, chief design engineer and finally as a project manager.

Storage holds a Bachelor of Science in Engineering from Pennsylvania State University and a Master of Business Administration from American University, Washington, DC. He also possesses numerous designations such as a Certified Community Association Manager (CCAM) from California Associations Institute and an American Society of Industrial Security certification.
